

Solutions

At APD Ltd we don't regard ourselves simply as Panel Builders, Electrical / Control Engineers or System Integrators.

We are a Solutions provider company.

The core principle we have built the company on is providing our customers with the best technical solution available to solve their process plant or production line problems.

We have always had a policy of maintaining an open range of key suppliers and we have never restricted our thinking or our problem solving approach by entering into exclusive arrangements with specific vendors.

We examine each project independantly and propose a combination of hardware and software that best suits the particular application. We determine and how best it will best integrate with any existing infrastructure, using a full spectrum of technological platforms.

As a result of this approach our systems are always innovative, designed to maximise the potential of the equipment, based on proven technologies and with a view towards expansion and future-proofing.
